Host an activity

Project description:

An app where NYU students can post and join other people's activities/hangouts and make friends with similar interests. Available on the App Store and Google Play.

Design:

I wanted the app to look elegant without taking itself too seriously. Therefore, I chose white as the theme and included a mixture of rounded and sharp corners (only clickable elements are rounded).

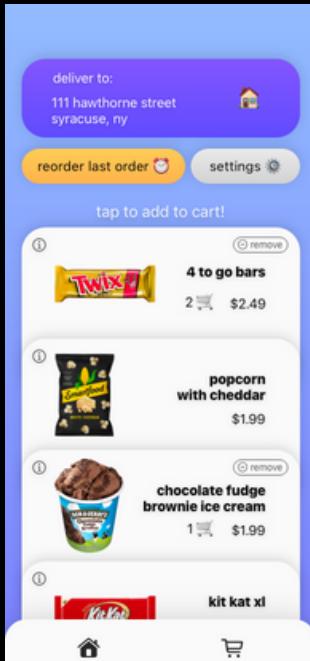

Demo:

Project description:

An ultra-local snack delivery service where sellers store products in their homes and deliver them to their neighbors in 3 minutes. There are two different apps: one for the customer and one for the seller.

Design:

Since the app targets Gen Z users, I kept the colors fun and bright, while maintaining a minimalistic look. All borders are rounded, most of the icons are made up of emojis, and there are no capital letters.

Based on NASA's influential photograph The Blue Marble 1972, this illustration made in Adobe Illustrator portrays a dystopian future where Earth is dominated by pollution.
